Introduction

The acquisition of a second language, and through it an understanding of another country's culture, is a rich academic experience for all students, not only in the arts, humanities, and social sciences, but also in business, education, nursing, the natural sciences, and engineering. Knowing how to communicate effectively in another language significantly enhances one's career opportunities and contributions as a citizen. This page provides an overview of the academic offerings of the Department of World Languages and Cultures.

Mission Statement

The Department of World Languages and Cultures is dedicated to teaching students the language skills and cultural knowledge necessary for succeeding in today's multilingual world of cultural diversity, global markets, political interdependence, and international scientific and cultural collaboration. Within the B.A. in Foreign Languages, students may choose French, German, Russian, or Spanish as a focus language, and may also concentrate in Foreign Language and International Trade. Minors and foreign language teacher certification are also offered, while Arabic, Japanese, and Latin can be taken at the introductory and intermediate levels. Language clubs and extracurricular activities contribute to a rich campus life. Domestic and international internships give students a professional experience that greatly enhances their career opportunities after graduation.

The Department offers an integrated curriculum comprising the teaching of linguistic proficiency and the promotion of a critical awareness of other cultures. In these efforts, the Department is aided by its state-of-the arts digital Multimedia Center. Committed to the integrated triad of teaching, research, and service in the areas of world languages, literatures and other cultural media, such as film, in their historical, social, and interdisciplinary contexts, the Department promotes academic pluralism by fostering a variety of interpretive and pedagogical approaches.

By virtue of its commitment to the highest standards in teaching, research, and service, the Department of World Languages and Cultures aims to uphold and further strengthen the national and international standing of UAH.

Languages Offered

Arabic, French, German, Japanese, Latin, Russian, Spanish

The Department of World Languages and Cultures offers the B.A. in Foreign Languages. A student may choose a focus language of French, German, Russian, or Spanish, and may also concentrate in Foreign Language and International Trade (in cooperation with the College of Business). Arabic, Japanese, Greek, and Latin cannot be taken as majors or minors, but can be taken to satisfy the language requirement or as electives.

General Education Requirements and Placement Procedures

Three semester hours of credit in one foreign language are required for the B.A., unless the student can demonstrate a competence at a level more advanced than the beginning 101 course. The introductory sequence begins in the fall and continues in the spring semester so that students can complete the 6 semester hour general education requirements in one academic year. Native and quasi-native speakers of foreign language may not take introductory and intermediate courses, nor the first advanced conversation course in that language. Students in this category must make an appointment with the appropriate language coordinator to take a departmental placement examination. They must still take a minimum of three additional semester hours of course work to complete General Education Requirements.

Placement Procedures

Students with prior world language experience and heritage speakers may be placed into a higher course by taking the standardized Web Cape International Foreign Language Placement Exam, or the CLEP or AP exams. Students must still take a minimum of three (3) additional semester hours of course work in the language to complete General Education Requirements. Native speakers of a world language may not take introductory and intermediate courses.

If students wish to major or minor in French, German, Russian, or Spanish, they may take the placement exams to test out of a maximum of twelve (12) hours of course work (WLC 101, 102, 201, 202).
After taking the Web Cape test, students majoring or minoring in a world language will be placed in an appropriate higher language course. They receive credit hours, without grade/quality points, for the two (2) highest elementary/intermediate language courses as is appropriate. If students test out of more than 6 hours, the remaining courses will be waived.

All students, irrespective of language background and placement, must take all remaining upper-level coursework to complete the major or minor.

High School Experience

Students who studied a world language in high school will be placed according to the following scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Placement Level</th>
<th>Language in High School</th>
<th>Courses to Be Taken to Satisfy Requirements</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1st level (101)</td>
<td>0-2 units¹</td>
<td>101, 102 (3 semester hours each)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2nd level (201)</td>
<td>3-4 units</td>
<td>201, 202 (3 semester hours each)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

¹ Minimum grade of C required for a unit to be counted.

If an interval of two years or more occurs between study of a language in high school and continuation of that language in college, placement levels may be adjusted downward to entry level.

Advanced Placement Examination

The Department will award credit to students who have earned a score of three or higher on Advanced Placement (AP) Program examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board according to the following scale:

- Score of 3: 6 semester hours credit (i.e. through 102, 3 semester hours each course)
- Score of 4: 12 semester hours credit (through 202)
- Score of 5: 15 semester hours credit (through 301)

The credit thus awarded will be recorded without grades or quality points and will not therefore, be included in the calculation of the grade point average. Moreover, regardless of the student’s AP score, he or she will be required to complete successfully one additional course (3 semester hours) of the appropriate language.

Majors in World Languages and Cultures

Minors in Foreign Languages and Literatures

Certificate in Foreign Language and Global Engagement
